Brother Boniface Will Celebrate

Schumann.

HAS MANY RELATIVES HERE

The vow of voluntary poverty, perpetual chastity and entire obedience does not produce a man who delights in reading his own praises. This conquering of the spirit of the flesh secures instead a man divested of the dross of life—a hero in whose soul there neither lodges nor lurks any sense nor thought of envy or jealousy. And such a man, possessing the Rev. Brother Boniface, of the Xaverian Brothers, teacher and musician, who will come to Louisville from Worcester, Mass., to celebrate his golden jubilee at St. Vincent de Paul's church on Sunday, August 23. Brother Boniface, who had as pupils the Rev. Father Thome and the Rev. Father George Schumann, D. D., has many friends in Louisville who are making preparations for an elaborate observance of the rare occasion, and it is possible that all officiating at the anniversary mass will be former pupils of the jubilarian, whose preference would be to be allowed to go on undisturbed in his loyal work of the Master with whom he has engaged himself.

Brother Boniface entered the order of the Xaverian Brothers in Louisville on August 23, 1864, when but thirteen years of age. He has since that time been actively engaged in the work of teaching and preparation for success in pedagogy, the noblest of sciences. Louisville, Baltimore and Worcester, Mass., have been the principal places where this good brother has had opportunity to display his special qualifications, and everywhere he has been most successful in the exploitation of his particular possessions. Himself a product of the Xaverian system, the application of that system to his wards has been made with zeal and affection. Hence in part his unmistakable triumphs with his pupils, many of whom have been raised to God's altar. His work has ever been of a marked character, and the growth of the college or school in which he may be engaged gives evidence of the appreciated usefulness of his methods.

The heavenly graces conferred by the Lord upon Brother Boniface have enabled him to continue for fifty years in the labor of educating the heart and conscience as well as the mind of the youth of the land, thus securing to the country the needful crops of good Christians and good citizens. He bears lightly the yoke of the Lord, to which he bowed so lovingly in his youth, and has every prospect of being a laborer in his vineyard for many years to come.

August 23, 1859, Brother Boniface observed in Baltimore the completion of twenty-five years' as a Xaverian. St. Patrick's parish, of the schools of which Brother Boniface was director, was in jubilation. At the dinner given in honor of the jubilarian the guests included Superior General Vincent, of Bruges, Belgium; Brother Peter, Provincial of England; Brother Alexius, Provincial of the American Province and President of Mt. St. Joseph's College; Rev. John T. Gaitley, pastor of St. Patrick's church; Rev. John P. Hagan, pastor of St. Lawrence's church; Rev. Thomas D. Leonard and Rev. Edward Henchy. The Columbus centenary celebration was honored by the raising of the United States flag by the children of St. Patrick's schools, Brother Boniface arranging for the occasion a programme of beautiful music. At the golden jubilee of the venerable Brother Stanislaus in Mt. St. Joseph's College, Brother Boniface was a collaborator with Brother Isidore in the production of the "Jubilatum," the former writing the music for the latter's literary composition.

Brother Boniface, in addition to his daily labors of training the youth in the way he should walk, is a successful musician, with all knowledge of the theory and practice of music. He makes "the organ speak" the praises of the great Jehovah, and is a prolific composer of church music—useful, harmonious, reverent. The newspapers have spoken warmly of his efforts, and many of our most distinguished churchmen have congratulated him highly.

FRANCISCAN PROVINCIAL.

The quadrennial convention of the Franciscan Order of Minor Conventuals held in the Franciscan Convent in Rensselaer, N. Y., last week was presided over by the Most Rev. Dominie Tavani, of Rome, Italy, Vicar General of the order. The Very Rev. Leo Greulich, who makes his residence at St. Francis' Convent in Syracuse, was unanimously re-elected Minister Provincial of the order in the United States. Father Leo has been Provincial since the death of Very Rev. Louis Miller, first as an interim appointment, then by election four years ago. The office is the highest in the order in this country and has jurisdiction over all the institutions conducted by the Franciscans of the Order of Minor Conventuals in the United States and possessions. Father Greulich spent many years in Louisville, being the pastor of St. Anthony's church when he received his first appointment.

BISHOP LAYS CORNERSTONE.

The cornerstone of the new St. Elizabeth church, located at Burnett Elizabeth and Hoertz street, was solemnly laid last Sunday afternoon by Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville, assisted by the Rev. Francis Felten, pastor of St. Augustine's church, and the Rev. Patrick M. Monaghan and about thirty priests. A crowd began to form around the foundation walls as early as 3 o'clock, eager to be on hand and have a viewpoint when the impressive ceremonies began. The Knights of St. John and the Catholic Knights of America, in their military dress uniforms, acted as guard of honor to the Bishop, the officiating dignitaries and the thirty or more priests, leading the procession from the parochial residence to the church foundation, where there was assembled one of the largest gatherings ever seen on a similar occasion in the Louisville diocese. Upon reaching the site of the new church the Bishop, the cornerstone laying exercises following. In the cornerstone of the new edifice, which will replace the combination school and church building now in use, was deposited a box containing data pertaining to the diocese and congregation and other documents. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Charles P. Raffo, who spoke eloquently but briefly on the efforts of Father Assent, the pastor, and the efforts that had led to the decision to replace the old edifice, and then discoursed on the faith and mission of the one true church. The work of building the new St. Elizabeth's church will be pushed as rapidly as possible, and when finished Father Assent and his people will have an edifice of which any diocese might justly feel proud.

CLIFF HAVEN.

The week just passed will go down in the annals of the Catholic Summer School as being the most memorable from a religious and social standpoint spent at Cliff Haven during the present session. There have been other weeks which have furnished more genuine amusement and entertainment and other weeks which have been characterized by greater educational momentum, but never during the two months of this session has there been such a spirit of Catholic loyalty, religious sensibility and Christlike devotion shown upon the Summer School with a more resplendent luster than during the seven days of this second week of August. The splendid religious ceremonies of the week were fittingly begun on Sunday, August 9, when over 500 guests of the Summer School made the annual pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Ann, Isle la Motte. Impressive as this beautiful pilgrimage was and lofty as were the ideals and devotion which it inspired, it was but the prelude of the great and magnificent ceremonies which were to mark the celebration of Lady Day. These ceremonies really began on Wednesday evening, when the Rev. Edwin Ryan, D. D., professor of history in St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoody, preached his first sermon of the triduum in honor of Our Lady. The other sermons were preached on Thursday and Friday evenings. On Saturday morning it was planned to begin the immediate celebration of the Feast of the Assumption in the Chapel of Our Lady of the Lake with masses, which will be said every half hour from sunrise until noon. At 2 o'clock the inspiring religious pageant will be begun, every one on the grounds at Cliff Haven taking part. At the shrine of Our Lady of the Lake benediction will be given and a sermon preached by the Very Rev. John P. Childwick, D. D., Lecturer of the week were Rev. F. P. Donnelly, S. J., and Rev. L. J. O'Hern, C. S. P.

EUCHE AND LOTTO.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the euche and lotto party to be held next Wednesday afternoon and evening in the cool and inviting basement of St. Paul's church, Jackson and Kentucky streets. Nothing will be spared to make this the most successful event ever held in St. Paul's parish. It will be held under the auspices of Father Thomas York and the various societies connected with the parish, and two valuable prizes and many handsome awards have been secured for the large crowd that is sure to be in attendance. Take any cross town car and transfer to the Oak street line, which is only a few steps from the new St. Paul's. Many novel features will make the time pass pleasantly for those who attend and thereby contribute a mite to a most deserving cause.

FROM ROME.

An Associated Press dispatch from Rome, via Paris, received here Wednesday, says the Pope is so overwhelmed with grief by the outbreak of war among all the principal nations of Europe that he is unable to do any work and sits listless and silent for hours every day. Although his holiness is not ill, his condition is causing grave anxiety to his attendants.

SILVER JUBILEE.

Sister Mary Henry and Sister Delphine, Sisters of Charity stationed at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, are celebrating their silver jubilee today, being received into the order at Nazareth in August, 1889.

REDMOND'S

Inspired Speech in House of Commons Has Tremendous Effect.

Tories Declared Their Hostility to Home Rule Was Now Gone.

Bill Will Immediately Become a
Law When House Meets Again.

IRISH VOLUNTEERS ARE ARMING

The war and Redmond's speech last Monday night finally won for home rule, cabled Hon. T. P. O'Connor to the press on Sunday. With extraordinary courage and presence of mind Redmond saw the psychological moment to place Ireland by the side of the British Empire in the gigantic struggle just beginning, and offered to the Government not merely Ireland's sympathy but a pledge to secure Ireland's shores from the foreign invader by Irish volunteers alone. No speech in modern times has created such immediate and tremendous effect. The House cheered till it was hoarse. Tories as well as Liberals, many with tears in their eyes, rushed to shake Redmond's hand, and the Tories especially declared that their hostility to home rule was now gone.

Crowds awaiting outside Buckingham Palace and Downing street to hear the declaration of war at midnight on Monday cheered Redmond. His photograph in all the moving picture shows was received with wild cheers. From Ireland came an immediate, universal response, backing Redmond's words, and an astonishing and unprecedented scene was witnessed of volunteers and masses of people accompanying soldiers to stations with cheers as they took their departure for the war. But behind the scenes Redmond was in constant consultation with Asquith and surveyed the situation with his characteristic combination of firmness, vigilance and self-control.

It was revealed to him that Bonar Law and other Tory leaders had joined Carson in a demand that home rule would be put on the statute book immediately or at some distant date. As it turned out these protests, though natural, were unnecessary, for Asquith never contemplated any such betrayal, and on Monday next an announcement is expected that the adjournment is only for two weeks, and that on the statute book meets again the session will end in prorogation and the home rule bill will immediately become a law.

The Tories will be offered at the same time the choice between discussing the amending bill then or in a new session later. In the meantime Ireland's support of the British Empire in the hour of peril is more than justified by the men of all races and all parties in the British Empire that this war is one for the defense of the principle of nationality of small States; of emancipating Europe from the grinding and intolerable tyranny of German military autocracy.

The revolt of some extreme radicals which was uttered loudly last Monday has died out and all the nation stands enthusiastically behind the British Government in this great crusade to save France, Belgium and democratic liberty. Nobody has any doubt that though the way may be long Europe will conquer Germany, and already there is a firm resolve as the first fruits of victory to restore Alsace-Lorraine to its people. Winston Churchill, as the man who put the fleet in such splendid condition, divides with Redmond the position of popular hero.

The removal of the arms proclamation enables the Irish volunteers to arm more speedily. London takes the whole situation seriously but calmly. The temporary dislocation of finance and business is passing rapidly away and confidence in victory and in justice of England's cause are strong and universal.

TO SELECT ALTERNATES.

At the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., Monday evening it was decided to select alternates to the State convention at the next meeting, which will be held on Monday, August 14 and 15, and President John Hennessy expects that in addition to the delegates several of the division members will attend the convention, the delegation to leave here on Sunday morning. The Visiting Committee reported Patrick Rahan, one of the veteran members of the division, as being on the sick list.

Widespread gloom prevailed in Ashland last Saturday when it became known that Miss Marguerite O'Kelly, twenty-three years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Kelly, had been called by the Angel of Death. Miss O'Kelly was a life-long and devout member of Holy Family church and in society circles was one of the most respected and popular girls in Ashland. She received her primary education in the parochial schools and later graduated with high honors from the Winona Seminary at Winona, Minn. For the bereaved parents all Ashland feels tender sympathy.

RECENT DEATHS.

The death of Michael Clashy, a life-long and devout member of the Dominican parish, took place at his home, 740 West Oak street, Sunday night. He had a wide circle of friends and relatives who deeply mourn his demise. The funeral took place Wednesday morning from St. Louis Bertrand's church, being largely attended.

The funeral of Marie M. Heilman, the thirteen-year-old daughter of George and Rosella Heilman, 1021 Payne street, was held Tuesday morning from St. Martin's church. Her death followed a two months' illness of heart disease. To the parents and brother and sisters of the young girl so early taken to her heavenly home is extended the sympathy of their many friends.

The many friends of Samuel Thomas, 520 West M street, sympathize with him in the death of his estimable wife, Mary O'Connor Thomas. Mrs. Thomas was an ideal woman, ever true to the practice of her holy religion and devoted to the care of her husband and eight children who survive her. Her funeral was held Tuesday morning from Holy Name church, Rev. John O'Connor celebrating the requiem high mass.

Mrs. Kate McLaughlin, thirty-nine years of age and a highly esteemed resident of St. Cecilia's parish, died of stomach trouble Tuesday evening following a long illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. J. Blumkirch, 2649 Bank street. She was the widow of James McLaughlin, and leaves a daughter, two sisters and a brother, Patrick Glenn. Her funeral took place Thursday morning from St. Cecilia's church, attended by many mourning friends and relatives.

Miss Anna M. Cahill, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cahill, 1201 Everett avenue, was called to her reward Saturday morning, leaving to mourn her loss a wide circle of devoted friends who will greatly miss her pleasant companionship. Her death followed a two days' illness of tonsillitis. Besides her parents she leaves three sisters and three brothers. The funeral services were held at St. Brigid's church Monday morning.

Announcement of the death of Miss Fannie H. Martin at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Reis, 1005 East Kentucky street, was a severe shock to her many friends. Miss Martin had been ill but five days, death being caused by nephritis. Her father, Henry Martin, a fireman, two brothers, Henry Martin, Jr., and George Martin, and two sisters, Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. William Reis. The funeral was held Monday morning from Holy Trinity church with high mass for the repose of her soul.

Death sudden and unexpected came to Charles E. Mivelaz, a widely known and respected citizen of Louisville, early Saturday morning. Born in this city forty-three years ago and educated at St. Patrick's school, for more than a quarter of a century he had been identified with his brothers in the American Restaurant. Possessed of a generous heart, he was a liberal contributor to charity without regard to race or creed. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Cook Mivelaz; two children, Charlotte Mivelaz and Charles E. Mivelaz, Jr.; his mother, Mrs. Augustus Mivelaz, and a brother, Frank Mivelaz. The funeral was held Monday morning from St. Brigid's church, the Rev. Father Raffo being the celebrant of the requiem high mass.

TANGO DEVOTEES.

Convincing proof that many are being bitten by the tango craze is borne out in the rumor which floated out from Limerick and is vouched for by reputable eye witnesses. One of the latter, in going through Seventh street late the other evening, hearing some one say "This foot, Hogan," and "Turn around, Kelly and Dolan," peeped in and witnessed John Hogan, Tom Dolan, Jim Reilly, Will Hines, Will Roker and Dick Houlihan going at the tango steps for dear life, the last the observer heard on turning away was "Now you be the lady this time."

BISHOP BUSCH

Pleased Over the Verdict Regarding His Stand on Sunday Labor.

United States Industrial Commission Holds Public Hearings in Lead.

Will Have National Law Making One Day of Rest Obligatory.

HIS VIEWS ARE AGREED WITH

Right Rev. Joseph E. Busch, Bishop of Lead, S. D., passed through Chicago on his way to Pittsburgh. While in Chicago he made the offices of the Catholic Church Extension Society his headquarters. The Bishop expressed his satisfaction over the turn things had taken in the question of the abuses of the Homestake Mining Company regarding employment of its men on Sunday, and while this wrong is not yet righted, it is on the road to amendment. His Lordship is fighting hard to secure the day of rest for his parishioners who work for this company.

"We have just had a hearing from the United States Government," said the Bishop. "The Federation on Industrial Relations held a public hearing in Lead on Monday and Tuesday, and it was established by the evidence of the company's officers that all my contentions were true, and that Sunday closing was not observed, and further, that owing to the absolute control of the situation by the Homestake Mining Company no relief could be obtained as long as they were unable to see the need of Sunday observance. It is my duty to see that my people are able to go to church," continued the Bishop. "and incidentally I am also trying to rid that section of the country of the overwhelming influence of the company both in political and business. On my way down to Chicago I stopped at St. Paul, where I had the privilege of addressing the delegates to the national convention of the Knights of Columbus."

The Knights of Columbus passed a resolution to have the order assist in any effort made toward the granting of Sunday observance, locally and nationally. The Knights endorsed my stand. Since I raised that question in Lead they now demand from every applicant for employment a statement as to their religious affiliations as well as their political views. When a man applies for a position he is kept waiting, or as they put it, he is told to "rustle." Translated out of the vernacular that means come around every morning, report to the time-keeper's office and we will see. In the meantime the company's spotters are sent out to sound him. These spotters have never been actually proven to be in the employ of the company. The company does not admit it, but the man is approached from different men and he is sounded regarding his views on important subjects. Then after a week or two of "rustling" he is either refused or accepted. The company insists that the men may lay off on Sunday, if they wish. They will not discriminate, they say. But the men say differently. They insist that the company does discriminate, and that the shift boss will discriminate against those men who do lay off on Sunday, giving them the hardest jobs and laying them off the first of the lot when the work is slack.

"The only thing I asked of the company was that they would not discriminate against these men, and that they make it a bona fide offer, and state that they would like to see a man take advantage of it. And they refused. It was then I opened fire upon them. I wanted the men to feel that if they wished to lay off on Sunday they could, and they don't feel that way. The company has not given me a letter that would satisfy the men, and I take the position that the company should not offer them work on Sunday, for they should earn enough in six days of labor to support them and not be compelled to eke out a living by Sunday work. The Homestake Mining Company has no right to take advantage of the scanty pay it does out to them. The law of South Dakota forbids unnecessary work on Sunday and the company could very easily arrange to give that day to a very large number of its men. All of them should have it."

The Bishop, when asked for his opinion as to the ultimate result of his fight, expressed the opinion that ultimately we would have a national law making one day of rest obligatory. "The State of New York has adopted such a law," he said, "and there is no reason why others should not. A great many agencies are at work toward that end, and the sentiment is growing."

WILL CARRY MANY.

The fact that the only excursion of the season to Jasper, Ind., will take place on Sunday, August 30, insures a large crowd. It will be under the auspices of the Central Committee, C. K. of A., the round trip costing only $1.50. President Ben Kruse, Capt. Oscar Maier, Secretary Henry Schulten and Charles Hill are arranging for many attractions and a championship ball game at Jasper. Capt. Kunkel has tendered the use of his hall for the excursionists, and the Jasper Knights will give them a hearty welcome. The train will leave the Seventh-street depot at 7:45, arriving in Jasper about 11 o'clock. Louisville Knights will spare no effort to make this the best excursion ever given from this city.

CENTRAL VEREIN.

Last Sunday morning at Pittsburgh the national convention of the Central Verein was opened in St. Paul's Cathedral, with Pontifical high mass celebrated by the Papal Delegate, Most Rev. John Bonzano. In the afternoon an audience estimated at 7,000 rose in Exposition Hall at the public opening, and led by a choir of 500 voices sang the "Star Spangled Banner" as a huge American flag was unfurled from the gallery. The Most Rev. John Bonzano, Papal Delegate to the United States, and many distinguished members of the Roman Catholic clergy and laity sat on the platform. The Papal Delegate made a brief address, reading a message from Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State. It conveyed to the Central Verein the thanks of Pope Pius for the renewed assurance of their fidelity, and bestowed upon the delegates his apostolic benediction, which was bestowed by the Papal Delegate, the people kneeling. Addresses by the Most Rev. John Bonzano; Bishop J. F. Reigis Canevin, of Pittsburgh; Bishop Joseph Schrembs, of Toledo, and Bishop Joseph F. Bush, of Leeds, S. D., were among the principal features of Monday's sessions of the Central Verein, but routine business took up the greater part of the day. At Tuesday's session President Joseph Frey reported that 6,000 members had been added the year during the past year and prospects for additional increases in membership were good. The day was devoted largely to committee reports and other routine business. At this session a committee was appointed to organize a Catholic Woman's League, and the name of the younger men's branch was changed to Gonzaga Union. The convention adjourned late Wednesday, after selecting St. Paul, Minn., as the convention city for next year and electing the following officers: President, Joseph Frey; Vice President, Michael Giron of Illinois; Secretary, John Hausen, of Pennsylvania; Secretaries, August Springob and J. Q. Juene, both of Minnesota; Treasurer, F. M. Immekus, of Pennsylvania. In the final resolutions the Industrial Workers of the World were condemned as the "enemies of the Christian workmen," and the Irish Nationalists were indorsed in their campaign for home rule. President Frey was instructed to send a committee to Washington to protest against the policy of Mexico toward Catholic orders.

HOLY CROSS FETE.

Holy Cross lawn fete and chicken supper, to be held on the church grounds, Thirty-second and Broadway, next Monday and Tuesday afternoons and evenings, judging by the aroused interest over the preparatory plans, promises to be one grand occasion of the day for the people of that parish and their friends. The committees are congratulating themselves on having secured special features and prizes for this occasion, together with an abundance of chicken to be served the numerous guests. Father Frey, the pastor, and his people will have a hearty welcome and good time for all who attend.

SUSTAINS PAINFUL INJURIES.

Louis Hannon, the fourteen-year-old son of Edward Hannon, 2044 East Spring street, will recover from the painful injury sustained last Saturday. The boy was riding his bicycle on Vincennes street, when the handlebar turned, throwing him with much force against a coal cart. His scalp was torn from his head and he was removed to St. Edward's Hospital in an unconscious condition, where the scalp was slipped back and sewed. The latest report was that the boy was out of danger and doing nicely.

BARDSTOWN.

The sad intelligence was received here Tuesday of the death of Miss Mayne Daugherty at her home in Bardstown. Miss Daugherty was forty-eight years of age and was one of the most respected women in Nelson county. Her death resulted from a complication of diseases and was a shock to her many friends. She is survived by two brothers, Judge Frank Daugherty and Dr. J. W. Daugherty, of Bardstown, and three sisters, Miss Gusie Daugherty, of Washington; Mrs. Nannie Clark, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. T. Y. Barber, of Bardstown. The funeral was one of the largest held from the old Cathedral church for a long time.

STEUBEN STATUE.

An imposing bronze statue of Baron Steuben, the drill master of the Revolution, was unveiled in Utica, N. Y., last week. It stands at the entrance of the new parkway. The ceremonies were under the auspices of the German Alliance. Baron Von Steuben was born in Magdeburg, Prussia, November 15, 1730, and died November 28, 1794. He was educated at the Jesuit's colleges of Niesse and Breslau. He joined the Revolutionary army in 1777 and spent his whole fortune in clothing his men. Congress made a tardy reparation, voting him in 1790 an annuity of $2,500 and a strip of land in New York State.

K. OF C. OUTING.

The local council Knights of Columbus will have their annual outing for members and their families next Thursday at Fern Grove, two boats to leave in the morning at 9 and 10 o'clock.

DEMOCRATS

Need United Front For Success in the Coming November Election.

Herculean Task of Cementing

Callahan's Futile Attempt to Defeat

Primary.

FIRST WARD CLUB ORGANIZED

With the announcement of Beckham's plurality of 6,806, which is the result of the official count, comes the pledged support of his recent opponents, Gov. McCreary and Congressman Stanley, in the United States Senatorial primary, both offering to make speeches and assist in any way to aid the ticket in the coming November election. This spirit also pervades throughout the entire State, the newspaper men in the Democratic ranks clamoring for a united front against the common enemy, meaning the Republicans, as no one to date is taking Burton Vance's candidacy very seriously, or in fact any of the other Progressive nominees. All agree, as predicted in these columns, that ex-Gov. Willson, the Republican nominee, will be the man to beat, as there is no denying the fact that the Republican leader is a strong man all over the State, and especially strong here in Louisville, his home town. Judging from the present situation he is sure to profit by the anti-Beckham sentiment so prevalent among local Democrats. This can be charged up to two things—because of the unpopularity of Beckham and his man Haley and because of the attempt of certain Beckham leaders to force the issue of Democratic ranks, which can only be remedied by quite an amount of diplomacy judiciously handled by some one who is in touch with all factions and who can unite them for the success of the ticket. This to begin with is a herculean task and will mean lots of hard and earnest work, and in the opinion of the majority no one is better fitted or more capable than our present Democratic Chairman and leader, Frank McGrath. His attitude preliminary to the primary left no hard feelings in any of the three camps, and the fact that the Jefferson county Democracy will be more apt to follow his lead in the support of the ticket than any other man or set of men in the ranks. It is believed that this work will have to be started in the First precinct of the First ward and carried to the Forty-first of the Twelfth ward, the last city precinct, hence to the county for completion, and with these methods only can a substantial majority be secured for the Democratic ticket.

Much adverse comment was created by the publication in these columns last week of the probable entrance of Col. Ben Callahan in the race for the Gubernatorial Democratic nomination, the story being republished from a Chicago oil and paint journal, many local Democrats being outspoken in their resentment against the proposed nominee, owing to his support of Axton in the recent municipal race, and lately because of his rumored financial backing of the plan to defeat Congressman Sherley in the primary, thereby injuring the party's chances for success in November, but fortunately only 2,414 votes were secured in the city and county out of 14,000 votes cast in the last count of elections, this speaking very well for Col. Callahan's strength or financial assistance in the ranks of the Democratic voters.

The attention of the writer has been called to the remarkable strength developed by Roger Nohally in the last count of elections, this in the last couple of elections, this sterling Democrat being the recipient of much praise for his work as an organizer in both primary and general elections, and it goes without saying that Roger will be much sought after by candidates and politicians in future elections. The secret of his hold on voters in that district is attributed in a great measure to his loyalty to his friends and associates, supporting them through thick and thin.

Even more pronounced than the singing of the locusts that fall is approaching is the organization of Democratic clubs for the coming campaign, the first in the field being the George B. Barrett Club of the First ward, the members being already at work for the success of the ticket and governed by the following officers: President, F. A. Stoepker; Vice President, Walter Minkerkotter; Secretary, Adam P. Stengel; Treasurer, Edward Schaefer. The club is named after our eloquent and distinguished Representative from that district, who is also an announced candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

CATHOLIC CITIZENS.

When anti-Catholic orators declare that we Catholics are bad citizens, that we ought to be persecuted, that we should be denied civil and religious liberty, that we are a menace to American institutions, etc., etc., through all the columns of our enemies, the Catholic Columbian calmly points to such thorough Catholic citizens as:

James Gibbons, Cardinal Archbishop of Baltimore.
John Ireland, ex-army chaplain and now Archbishop of St. Paul.

Henry Moeller, Archbishop of Cincinnati.

Edward D. White, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

John Burke, ex-Governor of North Dakota and now Treasurer of the United States.

Hon. James A. O'Gorman, ex-Judge of the Supreme Court of New York and now United States Senator from that State.

Hon. Joseph E. Ransdell, United States Senator from Louisiana.

Hon. John J. Fitzgerald, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the United States House of Representatives.

Hon. Edward J. McDermott, Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky.

Hon. Martin Glynn, Governor of the State of New York.

Gov. Walsh, of Massachusetts; Gov. Poirier, of Rhode Island; Senator Ashurst, Hon. Timothy Hogan, Attorney General of Ohio; Congressman James M. Graham, of Illinois; T. T. Annaberry and Henry Goecke, of Ohio; Congressman Korby, of Indiana, and a million others like them, and we say:

"Fellow citizens, here are representative Catholic citizens, here are men such as the Catholic church produces when it is free to train its members, here are fruits of the Catholic religion. Do you like this kind of men? Have you any objection to them as Christians, as American citizens? If you have not, why will you listen to the blackguards who endeavor to fill your hearts with hatred of your Catholic neighbors?"

RELIGION IN TRAINING.

But a few weeks yet remain until the opening of the school year. The Catholic clergy, the Brothers and the Sisters of religious orders, are in the midst of preparations which will make for a prosperous school year for the Catholic youth of the country. The teaching orders are soon to enter upon their special period of responsibility and sacrifice for the instruction of the children of the children of the church. During the period that has elapsed since the closing of the schools devoted women have been taking special courses preparing to keep the Catholic youth abreast with the times in thought and culture and in all that makes for the advancement of the Catholic youth. By retreats and spiritual exercises they add to their inspiration for the service of God in teaching the children. As a teaching body the Sisters are in a place by themselves for excellency of work, devotion and sacrifice. The time has long passed since it was common to make comparisons between the work offered by the teaching bodies of religious orders and those outside. The succeeding generations will bear powerful testimony to the influence exercised by the teaching orders of the Catholic church and the educational system of the church upon the lives of the citizens of the country. This influence will grow more and more powerful and more and more acceptable to the public at large as they grow to understand that education means moral as well as intellectual tone, and that morality can not be purchased without the influence of religion.

KEEP COOL.

Much as peace loving people regret it, the great European war threatens land and sea, the war spirit growing in intensity and bitterness. Five great nations are involved and several battles are reported to have been taken place, but so conflicting is the news that it is yet impossible to tell the results. Slight attention has been paid President Wilson's offer of mediation, which all hoped would bear fruitful results. True Americans hope this country will not become involved and are beseeching the God of Peace that the awful conflict may speedily end. It is the duty of our people to keep cool and not be misled

DO IT TO LOVE

Remarkable Sermon Preached by Minister in Congregation-alist Church.

Rev. Edwin F. Snell Refutes Miserable Slanders Against Catholics.

Protestants Inherited Their Spiritual Wealth From Mother Church.

DOING VAST WORLD'S WORK

Recently in the Congregation-alist church at Winnetka, Ill., the Rev. Edwin F. Snell preached a remarkable sermon, telling why he loves the Catholic church. I want to tell you this afternoon, he said, in a very simple way why I love the Roman Catholic church, and why I believe it is the duty of every Christian to love that church sincerely. First, I love the Roman Catholic church because of what she has been. It is the old Mother Church. Let me emphasize that. Our churches are all the offspring of that church. A few ultra Protestants will try to claim that they trace their genealogy through some stray erratic movements back to the Apostles without touching the Church of Rome, but this is largely imaginary. For more than a thousand years Rome has preserved the integrity and transmitted the vitality of the Christian gospel before ever anything like Protestant secession was dreamed of, and when the Protestant movement came, it was made possible as a branch is made possible on the vine; it grew out of the strong vitality of the Mother Church. Rome is the mother of all Protestantism as surely as England is the mother of America; as surely as Judaism is the mother of Christianity. Now I hold that it is a matter of simple decency to be loyal to one's mother. I could not respect myself if I could forget that as a Protestant I owe my very being as a Christian, I owe all the light and joy and liberty in Christ I enjoy to the Mother Church. To her I owe the very existence of that Bible which I love.

For fifteen hundred years the preachers and pastors, the hymn writers and the church builders, the social reformers and the mystics, the theologians and the poets of all Europe west of Russia were Roman Catholics. All our spiritual wealth as Protestants is an inherited wealth; inherited through the Roman Catholic church. But isn't it true that there was a great deal back there which was sadly wrong and bad? There is no doubt about that. There have not been very evil Popes and priests? There is no question at all about it. But all this corruption was but the festering sores on a body that was essentially sound, which had real life in it. We must remember that it has always been true that one black sheep, especially if he be a Christian leader, gains a publicity which a hundred faithful, true leaders never receive. For every evil priest there were a thousand true and faithful servants of Christ, living and dying to make the world a more Christy world; very debauched and unworthy Christians were there, but ten thousand simple, true, God-fearing, Christ-loving men and women who kept the faith. Historians have to write about the high lights of the years; the plain, every-day living escapes them. Today every pastor who goes wrong receives a place on the first page of the newspaper and large headlines; the thousand and pastors who are doing their duty in a simple way live and die without ever being mentioned. It has always been so. Our idea of history is widely distorted unless we remember the ground work of faithful living which makes continuing history possible.

Secondly, I love the Roman Catholic church for what she is to be. I regard it as one of the most unfortunate things about our life today that we so little understand each other, we Protestants and Roman Catholics who are all brethren in Christ. It is proverbial, I suppose, that no feud is so sore and unhealing as a family feud. The very love which should bind, when turned to hate, becomes the most complete of all barriers. If you want to know what real bitterness and strife are, you must look into family life. That explains, I suppose, the unholy rivalry in the hearts of Protestants and Catholics for each other. The Catholic priest knows his people better than we know them. Few of us anywhere do as well as we ideally might. I think the priest would be as quick to acknowledge his sense of insufficient wisdom and his sorrow for it as Protestants.

But is it not true that the Roman Catholic church is un-American, and is seeking to overthrow our Government and all that? I hesitate not to say that I believe it is a foul and hateful calumny. The people who say these things have not one solid fact upon which to base their monstrous indictment. It is an utterly unworthy frame of mind for brethren in Christ to have toward each other. It is true of course that many Catholics are office-holders, and many more are office-seekers. But why shouldn't they be? But every time the test comes, when there is a call for men to go to the front and die for their country, the Catholic bears his full share of the load which patriotism then assigns and triumphantly and concretely vindicates his loyalty. We must get this miserable slander out of our minds. By every test which can be fairly applied the Catholic stands on a par with his Protestant brother.

I hesitate not to affirm my faith in and my affection for the Catholic church today. She is doing a vast work in the world; she has an enormous responsibility resting upon her for the souls of millions in her custody and she is sincerely trying to bring to them the Gospel of Christ, and if we are Christians we are challenged by the duty to love them sincerely. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples if ye love one another." Finally then I love the Roman Catholic church for what she is to be. Because she is the Mother Church I look to see her make a place again for the children who have gone forth. I look to see her grow more gentle and more wistful when her children become less truculent. The time of our separation grows long; if we can only begin to substitute kind for harsh thoughts, if only the mother can begin to grow proud of her vigorous offspring and the children grow more appreciative of the old mother, the time of a great reconciliation should not be hopelessly remote. Let us judge the Catholic church by the Catholics we know or may know in our own midst; we shall find them as neighbors and as Christians to be worthy of our Christian love; and if we ever discover some frail soul who is not all the Christian he might be, let us remember our own frailty and pray God for grace to be some help to him; not merely a harsh and un-Christianlike censor.

LONG HOME STAY.

Manager Jack Hayden's Colonels arrived home this morning from Columbus, where our boys received an awful jolt to their pennant aspirations, unfortunately striking the Senators when they were playing the best game in the association, up to last Wednesday the Louisville team having beaten them eight out of twelve games. On the other hand our deadly rivals, the Milwaukee team, hit St. Paul and Minneapolis when they were at their worst, if it is possible in the case of the former, winning one-sided games. However, the Colonels are now in a position to make up for lost ground, the series opening with Indianapolis this afternoon, being the first of a long home stay, and all indications point to splendid attendances and support from the fans, who rejoice in the game spirit shown by the team. As a suggestion to the management and Police Captain Brown, it is earnestly hoped that a quietus will be put on the piker gamblers who frequent third base and vent their displeasure on the players if in danger of losing their bets.

THIS YEAR.

In answer to "Reader for Many Years" must say that the present has been the hottest and driest summer for many years past. This fact is established by the Government Weather Bureau reports.

DELEWARE

Last of the Thirteen Original States to Be Made a Diocese.

Rev. Thomas Andrew Becker, a Convert, Was Its First Bishop.

His Bequest For Education of Young Men Has Just Expired.

WAS ARCHBISHOP'S SECRETARY

By James A. Rooney, LL. D. Though Delaware was the last of the original thirteen States to be given a Bishopric, as the diocese of Wilmington was not established until March 3, 1868, and her first Bishop was not consecrated until the following August, it is not to be supposed that Catholicity had not made its influence felt in the colony prior to that time. The early missionaries were not harassed in Delaware by the anti-Catholic enactments that disgraced the statute books of the other colonies, for in its constitution of 1776 it was declared that "there shall be no establishment of any one religious sect in this State in preference to another." Besides it was too convenient to the Maryland missions to be long neglected by the Jesuits of those days.

As early as 1750 the Fathers of St. Francis Xavier's in Bohemia Manor are recorded to have established a mission at Apocuinimick, in New Castle county, and even twenty years before that it is not improbable that the first mass in the colony was offered up in the home of Cornelius Hallahan, an Irish Catholic who lived near the present Mount Cuba. The Episcopalians were watching the adherents of the ancient faith, for from their records we learn of the presence of Catholics in Dover in 1848 to 1851. They were attended from Maryland by a Jesuit who was known as Father Manners, by Father Faure, Father John Rosseter, an Augustinian, who had been an officer in Rochambeau's army; by Father Cibot, a French refugee from San Domingo, and by Father Charles Whelan, a chaplain of De Grasse's fleet and for two years pastor of Old St. Peter's in Barclay street, New York. Father Whelan was pastor of St. Mary's log church at Coffee Run in Mill Creek Hundred, about six miles from Wilmington, that had been built by Father Manners, and his successor was Father Patrick Kenny, who had for an assistant Father George A. Carroll, S. J., who was consecrated the first Bishop of Covington on November 1, 1853. It was from this first church that the Catholics of the surrounding country were attended. Some portions of this historic edifice are still standing. It was also Father Kenny who in 1816 built St. Peter's church, Wilmington, which greatly enlarged and beautified is now St. Peter's Cathedral. Adjoining it in 1839 was built the first of the fourteen parochial schools with which the diocese is now supplied.

When the War of the Rebellion was over the Catholics of Delaware had so increased in numbers and influence that a division of the diocese of Philadelphia was decided upon and on March 3, 1868, the diocese of Wilmington was erected with jurisdiction over the State, together with the eastern shore counties of Maryland and Virginia. The Rev. Thomas Andrew Becker, pastor of St. Peter's church, Richmond, was appointed as the first Bishop of the new see and he was consecrated by Archbishop Martin John Spalding, of Baltimore, on August 16, 1868. Bishop Becker was a convert to the faith. He was born in Pittsburgh of German Protestant parents, but he became a Catholic while yet a young man. He completed his studies for the priesthood at the Propaganda and was ordained in Rome, July 18, 1859. He returned home and after a brief ministry at Martinsburg was appointed to a professorship in Mount St. Mary's, Emmitsburg. He then served for a time as Archbishop Spalding's secretary, after being promoted to the Richmond pastorate.

On his consecration a census of the diocese of Wilmington showed a Catholic population of about 5,000, fourteen churches, mostly in bad repair and some mere sheds; and only eight priests. In eighteen years he had increased the number of churches to twenty-six and the priests to twenty-one, besides the Catholic population had nearly doubled. He was transferred to the see of Savannah, March 26, 1886, as its sixth Bishop, to succeed the Right Rev. William H. Gross, who had been promoted to be Archbishop of Oregon City. Bishop Becker's health failed rapidly and while recuperating at Washington, Ga., he died July 29, 1889. A notable bequest in his will was a legacy of $15,000, in trust for twenty-five years for the education of worthy and deserving young men for the priesthood, on condition that they be native Americans, total abstainers and willing to devote their lives to the service of God in the diocese of Savannah. The trust has just expired.

YOURSELF AS A PUBLIC SERVANT.

Some years ago the operating department of H. M. Byllesby & Company, the utility firm which has since become interested in the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, issued a booklet addressed to employes and bearing upon the subject of courtesy to the public. The booklet has been widely quoted. It sought to impress upon employes not only the reasons why they should be polite and obliging, but the far deeper necessity of doing their work well, so that the public would receive full value for every dollar paid for service. The booklet reads as follows:

"As members of the Byllesby organization we desire you to be public servants in the true meaning of the term.

"It is particularly important that every officer, every head of department and every employe, of whatever capacity, should realize this fact and regulate his conduct accordingly.

"Each one of us owes his employment to the public.

"The operation of a public utility is in the most positive sense a public trust, at least it is so regarded by H. M. Byllesby & Company.

"Under these circumstances, we wish you to realize that you can do your full duty to your employers only by doing your full duty to the people of the municipality in which you are occupied.

"The employe who serves our company best is the employe who serves the public best.

"This applies in all departments of the operating organizations—equally to the managers, the stokers at the gas works, the trainmen on their cars, the engineers at the power houses, the men in the offices, and to those engaged in construction and other outside duties.

"To a great extent our organization is judged by the MANNERS of its employes. Therefore we wish you to cultivate genuine courtesy and exercise patience and forbearance on all occasions.

"Those details of the service which the public have a right to know, while perfectly familiar to yourself, are often not understood by the men and women with whom you come in contact.

"You should never be too busy to furnish the public with proper information, nor to be courteous in manner as well as in words. In using the telephone it is especially easy to be gruff and abrupt and to turn friends into enemies.

"Courtesy and decent treatment are due fully as much to those of small financial means as to the largest prospective patron.

"The possession of a habit of cheerful courtesy, springing from an honest desire to please, is an invaluable asset to the person who would advance himself in popularity and material welfare. It is worth more than capital and at times takes precedence of ability.

"But all of your good manners and willingness to make agreeable the points of contact between company and patron are of little consequence unless they originate in a deep-seated consciousness of your obligations in the public service.

"The men in the mechanical, and in some of the other departments, seldom or never meet the public in an official way. Their work lies in helping to back up our reputation with satisfactory ACTUAL PERFORMANCE.

"The standard of the service should be guarded as scrupulously as the standard of the food supplied on your table. Interruptions to the service should be made a matter akin to the honor of every man upon whom the service depends.

"In all departments promises to patrons and public should be carefully considered before they are made, in the light of the fact that disappointment and dissatisfaction go hand in hand.

"These words are addressed to YOU, not because you have been negligent, but to impress upon you the importance and dignity of your occupation, and to assist you in understanding what we expect from the members of our organization.

"It is our belief that there does not exist a body of employes more loyal, enthusiastic and efficient than the one which maintains our ideas of progressive public utility management.

"Perfection, however, is approximate at best, and in our endeavors, with so many customers to please, there is always opportunity for earnest effort toward new achievements."

FATHER KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

A Reverend's Experience. 6 Vesper, Tenn., August, 1912.

I was a nervous wreck from indigestion, melancholy and almost crazy, but since I took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic my mind is relieved and the melancholy and the blues are away from me. I thank God for the Tonic and am telling people what a good medicine it is.

Rev. A. E. Bray. Mr. N. E. Dugan writes from Logan, N. Dak.: "It helps better than anything I tried. I became quite nervous at times and hands and feet trembled more or less in my head, like dull pain; did not care for society; but Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic relieved the trouble."

Rev. J. B. Melster, of Detroit, Mich., writes: "Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic is a great blessing and an enormous benefactor to the suffering."

A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases and a Sample bottle to any address. For 25 cents also get the medicine free. Prepared by Rev. Father Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and now by the gathering at the free picnic and outing to be held on the church lawn on Tuesday, August 25. They have secured a large number of handsome prizes, and in addition to the numerous amusement attractions there will be choice refreshments and good music. The feature, however, will be delicious supper, at which will be served everything the market affords. Street cars pass the church grounds.

RIVERVIEW.

Almost at any time of the afternoon and evening Broadway and Greenwood avenue cars may be seen filled with people bound for River-view Park to find enjoyment in the cooling breezes of the Ohio river and the amusement attractions offered by Manager Simons. Ladies and children in greater numbers than ever now visit Riverview, owing to the fact that here they receive special attention. Manager Simons' "Spotless Kitchen," with its melody and more comfort, continues to provide eatables always right and perfectly served.

GOOD FERRY BILL.

There is a preponderance of comedy and a proper proportion of music in the vaudeville bill that Manager Bilger promises for next week at Fontaine Ferry, when some new, novel and humorous songs and sketches, mostly of the laugh-provoking kind, will be presented. Natelli and his band are playing more numbers than ever before in the free open-air concerts, and the swimming pool provides enjoyment for ever increasing numbers. The Ferry theater and park are now at their zenith with lovers of outdoor amusement.
